AUDITOR'S REPORT.

We hereby certify that we have examined the foregoing accounts of the Selectmen and we find them correctly cast and properly vouched.

JAMES H. COLEMAN,
LOUIS C. BEAN,
Auditors.

Langdon Public Library.

To the Citizens of the Town of Newington:

The Library Trustees herewith submit the thirty-fifth annual report and financial statement also the Librarians report for the year ending December 31, 1926.

We are fortunate, and appreciate the fact that our library has been so well endowed. The funds are safely invested mostly in Government bonds, and the interest each year will be the means of making an institution of which we should be proud.

The Portsmouth City bond matured January 1, 1927 and was deposited at the First National Bank where it is paying the same amount of interest until it can be better invested.

During the year we have purchased with interest from the Webster Fund, The Master Library, a set of religious books, instructive and interesting and are wonderfully illustrated. These books have been prepared as an effective means of religious and moral education in the home.

The reading table contains an excellent and interesting collection of magazines regularly supplied and we trust all patrons of the library will use them freely.

We are pleased to notice an increase in the demand for new books and shall endeavor to secure as many as seems advisable for the coming year. Any suggestions in regard to books or needed equipment is appreciated at all times, as it is the public we desire to please.

On May 19, 1926, Health Week was observed at the library. The school children took an active part in making most attractive health posters. Miss Southwick and others gave instructive talks on Health. The young people enjoy the privilege of the library and are always interested in the books and periodicals.

A number of gifts have been received during the year. Rev. Albert Donnell has shown his interest by presenting a large number of volumes from his library.

To all these friends who have contributed in any way to our welfare, we extend our appreciation and thanks, also to our Librarian for the faithful performance of her duties.

The resignation of Edith G. Hoyt from the Board of Trustees was received with regret. The Selectmen have appointed Lena A. Knox to fill the vacancy.

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Board of Newington:

I hereby submit to you my second annual report as superintendent of the Newington public schools.

There is always an advantage in the retention of efficient teachers. Newington retained all three of her full-time teachers as well as Mr. Prior as part-time teacher of manual training. Mr. Bilbruck, supervisor of music, resigned to devote all of his time to the schools of Portsmouth, and Mrs. Mary Poore was selected to supervise the music. Mrs. Poore has entered upon her work with enthusiasm and skill.

Newington is fortunate in three of the elements necessary for an efficient system; viz., a modern school plan well-fitted to the number of pupils, with a spacious playground; a corps of teachers of character, intelligence, training and experience; and an organization in which each grade and each pupil receives sufficient attention to ensure effective work.

The greatest hindrance to good work on the part of the teachers is lack of regular attendance. During the past year we were handicapped by having our truant officer live 1½ miles from the school building, with no telephone at his house or nearby. This year we have had no truant officer. Many of our pupils live a long distance from the schoolhouse and the heavy snows of last winter have interfered much with school attendance. The new snow tractor is helping some in the solution of this difficulty. The parents of the town need to realize that they are seriously handicapping the future success of their children by keeping them out of school or allowing them to stay out of school upon insufficient excuse. I am glad to report that at present writing the attendance seems to be improving. We still sadly need a truant officer.

An intelligence examination was given to all pupils above Grade 4. The monthly bulletins and the attendance bulletins have been continued.

Believing that the hot lunch at noon should be borne not by the school district but by the pupils who receive it, we have served these dishes only to those who pay for it.

The Public Library has continued its splendid co-operation. In fact I have never seen a public library which rendered a more willing or more capable service to the schools and their pupils than that of this town.

We have added some equipment this year in the way of an International Dictionery and several much-needed tools to our Mannual training department.

A fair test of the efficiency of a school system is the percentage of its pupils who graduate from the eighth grade, and attend High School. Judged by this standard Newington would rank high as every pupil who entered the 8th grade in the fall of 1925 also graduated and entered the Portsmouth High School.

I would recommend: First, that the district complete what it began when it erected our excellent school building, by grading the grounds both to set off the beauty of the building and to improve the playground. Second, that we provide additional tools for the Manual training and some equipment for use in the elementary science class.

In order to make any school the best success possible, we must have the spirit of co-operation between school board, parents, teachers, pupils and superintendent, not only of each class with the others, but the members of each class among themselves.

We trust that this may be secured in Newington.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES N. PERKINS
Superintendent

February 16, 1927.

School Report.

To the Citizens of the Town of Newington:

We herewith submit our annual report of the Newington School Board:

As we get better acquainted with our Superintendent, Mr. Perkins, we find him a very pleasant and agreeable man, also very efficient in his work, taking much interest in the welfare of the children.

Mrs. Tobey has again acted as principal and we appreciate her efforts and think she serves her position well.

Mrs. Beane again has charge of the Junior high room, where she serves in her efficient manner.

Miss Pickering stayed with us again this year and we find her work very satisfactory, showing marked improvement since the begining of the year.

We were fortunate in engaging Mrs. Poore for our music teacher, and find the children are taking much interest in their music under her supervision.

As ever we invite the citizens to visit our school and familiarize themselves with the school work.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. A. GARLAND,
